

JURA FALCONIS CONFERENCE 2018

EUROPEAN PRIVATE INTERNATIONAL LAW AT 50

Celebrating and Contemplating EEX and its Successors

Date: 23 March 2018, 10 AM – 5:30 PM

Location: Auditorium Zeger Van Hee
College De Valk
Tiensestraat 41
Leuven

In 2018 we celebrate the 50th year since the adoption of the 1968 Brussels Convention on jurisdiction and the enforcement of judgments in civil and commercial matters. The 1968 attempt to facilitate the free movement of judgments in the EU, helped lay the foundations for the exciting developments in European private international law which have occurred since. Many of the outstanding issues in what is now the Brussels I Recast (also known as EEX-bis; or Brussels Ibis) continue to have an impact on other parts of European civil procedure.

Co-organised by Leuven Law's Institute of Private International Law and Jura Falconis, KU Leuven's student law review, this event will consider, capita selecta wise, the application and implications of the Convention and its successors. It will also discuss the future direction of EU private international law both for civil and commercial matters, and for issues outside of commercial litigation. At a time when in most Member States the majority of commercial transactions have some kind of international element, this is a timely refresher for practitioners, judges, students and scholars alike.
