

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PREFACE

Karel DE GUCHT	xiii
----------------------	------

INTRODUCTION: THE 2007–2008 BELGIAN MEMBERSHIP OF THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL IN PERSPECTIVE

Edith DRIESKENS and Jan WOUTERS	1
---------------------------------------	---

SERVING AT THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL: AN INSIDER'S VIEW

Jan GRAULS and Johan VERBEKE	5
------------------------------------	---

1. The world anno 2007	5
2. The United Nations anno 2007	8
3. The Belgian objectives	9
4. The Belgian approach	11
5. The UN Security Council in perspective	11
6. The Belgian contribution	14
7. Conclusion	19

THE 2007–2008 MEMBERSHIP OF THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL: MAXIMISING OPPORTUNITIES AND MINIMISING CONSTRAINTS?

Jan WOUTERS, Bruno DEMEYERE and Nicolas HACHEZ	21
--	----

1. Introduction: Be seated	21
2. Agenda-setting and decision-making processes in the UN Security Council	22
3. Instruments at the disposal of the UN Security Council	28
3.1. Resolutions	28
3.2. Presidential Statements	29
4. Ideological struggles: Sovereignty and non-interference versus the interests of the international community	31
5. Areas in which Belgium played a significant role	32
5.1. Thematic debates	32
5.2. Geographic areas	34
6. Conclusion: Maximising the benefits of non-permanent membership	36

REVISITING THE RULE OF LAW: LAW-MAKING AND LAW-CHANGING BY THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL

Stefan TALMON 41

1. Prescription of treaty provisions 41
2. Adaptation of treaty provisions 42
3. Legal framework and limits of UN Security Council treaty action. 46
4. Conclusion. 47

THE ROLE OF SMALL POWERS IN THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL: THE CASE OF BELGIUM

Michel LIÉGEOIS. 51

1. Introduction: The bravery of being small in a club of bigs 51
2. Advantages and disadvantages of being a small non-permanent 52
3. Getting elected 54
4. Getting ready 54
5. A growing burden 55
6. Leverage 1: Flexible decision-making and efficient networking. 56
7. Leverage 2: Constancy, consistency, competence (C³) 57
8. Leverage 3: Getting involved 58
9. Conclusion: Daring the active option and earning respect. 59

ITALY’S MANDATE AT THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL (2007–2008): A MISSED OPPORTUNITY?

Nicoletta PIROZZI. 63

CHINA, AFRICA AND THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL: DEFENDING OLD PRINCIPLES, SAFEGUARDING NEW INTERESTS AND FINDING PARTNERS ALONG THE WAY

Sara VAN HOEYMISSEN 73

1. Introduction 73
2. A Group of One 74
3. China in Africa: A stake in the political status quo 75
4. Defending old principles, safeguarding new interests and reaching out to the African vote 76
5. Room for cooperation? 80

ILL-EQUIPPED TO STOP THE BEAR: THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL AND THE CASE OF THE RUSSIAN-GEORGIAN AUGUST 2008 WAR

Ria LAENEN 83

1. Background of the long-time frozen conflict 83
2. Russian style peacekeeping 84
3. The August 2008 war and Russia's unilateral recognition of South
Ossetia's independence 86
4. The (non)involvement of the international community in the conflict zone 88
5. Russia: Skilful player of great power games 91
6. Conclusion 91

BELGIAN EXPERTISE IN 'THE CONGO': A PARADOX

Xavier ZEEBROEK 93

1. The origin of Belgian expertise 93
2. Rekindling the flame 94
3. The military option 96
4. Belgium sailing without a captain 97
5. Pragmatism and humility 99

DEALING WITH DARFUR: THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL ENTERS A COMPLEX BATTLEGROUND

Sander HAPPAERTS 103

1. The conflict in Darfur 103
2. Many issues, different actors 105
3. Chances and constraints for the UN Security Council 108
4. A role for Belgium? 110
5. Outlook: Darfur in 2009 111

THE UNBEARABLE LIGHTNESS OF UN SECURITY COUNCIL RESOLUTIONS: THE CASE OF IRAN

Tom SAUER 115

1. The permanent members 115
2. The special role of Germany 119

3. The Iranian file at the UN Security Council in 2007–2008.	121
4. Conclusion.	123

GLOBAL CRISIS MANAGEMENT: THE BELGIAN AND EU CONTRIBUTION

Sven BISCOP	127
1. European forces: Where?	127
2. European forces: Which operations?	128
3. An EU Military Strategy?	130
4. Conclusion.	132

NATO AS PEACEKEEPER: CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE UN

Ann PAUWELS.	133
1. Introduction	133
2. NATO’s involvement in peacekeeping operations: Opportunities and challenges for the UN	133
3. The Belgian peacekeeping policy.	137
4. Conclusion.	140

REFORMING THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL: SEARCHING FOR AN END TO A NEVER-ENDING STORY

Tine VANDERVELDEN	145
1. Introduction	145
2. The main lines of the storyboard.	145
3. The Open-ended Working Group on Security Council reform: What’s in a name?	147
4. The unlikeliness of an imminent and happy ever after	150
5. It’s not only size that matters	151
6. A pinch of Belgian (over)nuance to this gloomy tale	153

THE PARAMETERS OF UN SECURITY COUNCIL REFORM: SOME PERSONAL REFLECTIONS

Johan VERBEKE	159
1. In search of a win-win formula	159
2. The stakeholders.	160

3. Semi-permanent membership	162
4. Conclusion.....	163

THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL AND REGIONAL ORGANISATIONS: A DIFFICULT PARTNERSHIP

Luk VAN LANGENHOVE.....	165
1. Putting global/regional cooperation on the agenda.....	166
2. The High-Level Meetings between the UN and Regional Organisations	167
3. The UN Security Council and Regional Organisations.....	169
4. The way forward.....	171
5. Conclusion.....	173

WALKING ON EGGHELLS: NON-PERMANENT MEMBERS
SEARCHING FOR AN EU PERSPECTIVE AT THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL

Edith DRIESKENS.....	175
1. On principals and agents	175
2. Operationalising actorness.....	177
3. Complementary perspectives.....	178
4. Defining dilemmas	180
5. Beyond Chapter VIII.....	181
6. Conclusion.....	182

EPILOGUE: LOOKING BACKWARD, GOING FORWARD

Edith DRIESKENS and Jan WOUTERS	187
---------------------------------------	-----

LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS	191
----------------------------	-----